POST OFFICE ROBBER SHOT IN CEDARVILLE

STEP TOWARD AVERTING NATIONAL COAL STRIKE TAKEN BY LEWIS

HEADS OF RAIL UNIONS ANSWER CALL OF MINERS

OPERATORS CALLED
Conference With Owners "Essential to Industrial Peace."

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Announcement that he had taken a step in the direction of averting a nation-wide strike of coal miners was made here, today, by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, as he entered into conference with heads of railroad brotherhoods to present his "defensive alliance" proposal of resisting contemplated wage reductions. Lewis declared that he had issued a call to operators in West Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana for a joint conference to be held in the Hollenden hotel, Cleveland, on March 2.

"The conference with the operators is essential to industrial peace," said Lewis, "unless the conference is held and an agreement reached that will protect the interests of all parties concerned, including the public, there will be a strike."

Lewis, who is president of the United Mine Workers of America, proposed an alliance of the railroad unions and the miners to resist contemplated wage reductions. The conference was called by Lewis. The railroad union officials frankly declared that they did not know how they stood on the proposition and would not know until the question had been thoroughly mulled over. They said they did not know how far Lewis would want them to go. Generally belief was that the idea would be given the moral support of the rail unions. At least that!

Tuesday Is Princess Mary's Big Day Before Wedding

London, Feb. 21.—This is Princess Mary's big day before the wedding. That most important duty of all—the trying on of the wedding gown, takes place this morning. If everything is satisfactory, it will be the last fitting at the hands of the modiste. The remainder of her trousseau has been in readiness for several days.

The king and queen this afternoon are giving the first of a series of wedding parties, to which every one who has the slightest claim to distinction in governmental affairs hopes to be invited.

The wedding rehearsal, a pageant which is expected to rival the actual performance in splendor, will take place the latter part of the week.

An elaborate program of special music has been prepared by Sydney Nicholson, organist of Westminster Abbey for the wedding of Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles on Friday 28. The princess has approved it and it is being rehearsed.

It is probable that the "gentlemen and boys of His Majesty's chapel royal," dressed in their scarlet coats will be included in the abbey choir.

Press photographers will be admitted to a royal wedding ceremony for the first time when Princess Mary is married. Hitherto only artists have been permitted to depict the scenes on these great occasions, painting them upon canvas.

The groom-to-be Viscount Lascelles, has changed his plans and instead of having his brother for the best man, that office will be filled by Major Sir Victor Mackenzie, Bart, D. S. O., M. V. O., Scots Guards.

Forces of soldiers and police will line the route between Buckingham Palace and the abbey on the romantic Tuesday—the day of the romantic event. The lord chamberlain of the court, Lord Atholl, has

RESUME SEARCH FOR MEANS FOR SOLDIER BONUS

Congressional Revenue Hunters Determined to Reach Agreement

SALES TAX FAVORITE

Various Plans Submitted To Committee Seeking Solution.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Congressional revenue hunters resumed their hunt, today, for means of financing a soldiers' bonus, determined to reach an agreement and bring an end to the embarrassing uncertainty which has kept things in a turmoil in the house for several weeks.

The sales tax plan, advocated by President Harding was the generally acknowledged favorite when the tax division of the Republican membership of the ways and means committee met again today. The sales taxers found renewed hope in the fact that a "protest meeting" called by anti-sales tax members brought only 22 members, whereas a week ago it was known that at least 100 members of the house were opposed to the plan.

While the tax framers met again to wrestle with methods of financing the ways and means committee decided to go ahead with the framing of the bonus bill. An endeavor will be made to make the insurance bill so attractive that most of the ex-service men will take insurance instead of cash, thus relieving the burden on the treasury.

With the idea of reducing the number of beneficiaries, the committee also had under consideration today a plan to deny the cash bonus feature to officers who had no overseas service.

While there admittedly is great difference of opinion the belief prevails among house leaders that the bonus bill will pass the house if the ways and means committee adopts the sales tax plan and decides to push it through.

KENTON'S GAS SUPPLY MAY BE CUT OFF SOON

Kenton, Feb. 21.—The Hardin-Wyandot Lighting company furnishing natural gas to 2100 consumers in Kenton has asked the Public Utilities commission for permission to discontinue the service because the company claims it cannot furnish 50 cents per unit for which it must pay 45 cents. A hearing is set for March 28 so that it looks like it will have to continue to supply the city for an additional month. PROSPECTS OF AMERICA PARTICIPATING IN ECONOMIC CONFERENCE GROW DIMMER

Administration Looks Upon Suggestions From London and Paris Relative to Genoa Meeting as Simply "Feelers" as to Attitude of U. S.

Washington, Feb. 21.—The dim prospects of the United States actively participating in the Genoa economic conference became still dimmer today, upon receipt of informal advices from Paris and London that France and Great Britain look with favor upon a conference sponsored by the league of nations.

There was a tendency in administration quarters to regard the suggestions as trial balloons even though they apparently emanated from high official sources. It was made clear however that if the allied premiers are not bluffing and really intend to stage a conference under league auspices, the Harding administration will have nothing to do with it.

Belief that Poincare and Lloyd George are bluffing is based upon the conviction that both these statesmen appreciate the futility of seeking a permanent settlement of European economic problems if the United States is not to be a party to the settlement. With the increased power placed in the hands of the executive by the debt-funding legislation, it is pointed out that the American state department is in a position to wield a much stronger influence than heretofore in matters affecting the economic policies of European nations and few officials can see just how Poincare and Lloyd George can afford to take a step calculated to exclude the United States from the conference.

It is expected that the arbitrators will meet early next week to take up the wage scale dispute.

BULLET STOPS FLEEING BANDIT AFTER ATTEMPT AT BURGLARY FAILS

Lloyd Confer Said to Have Fired Shot Which Halted Burglar Early Tuesday Morning—Not Thought to be Fatally Wounded—Brought to Xenia.

CITIZENS OF TOWN, AROUSED, OPEN FIRE FROM THEIR HOMES

Safe Blown But Alarm Sent in Before Contents explored—Tells Authorities He Has Been Burglar for 30 Years and Says He Has No Home.

After using one charge of nitroglycerine, to blow the safe of the Cedarville Postoffice, a would-be robber who gave his name as William Miley, 53, residence unknown, was shot and seriously wounded, by Lloyd Confer, who resides near the post office, Tuesday morning, about two-thirty o'clock, while attempting to make his escape, following an unsuccessful attempt at burglary.

Cedarville citizens were aroused about two-thirty o'clock, by an explosion, and due to previous robberies in the vicinity, attention was immediately turned to the post office. The fire bell of the village was rung, and the citizens armed with rifles, and shot guns, were on the alert.

Confer was the first, aroused by the noise of the attempted burglary, to open fire on the bandit. Wakened by his wife, who had been aroused by hammering from the direction of the post office and who had become alarmed when she saw the burglar emerge from the building and then reenter Confer hastily procured a shot gun and fired at the building across the street from his home. As the robber appeared in the doorway and then started down the street, Confer, who had substituted a 22 calibre rifle for the shotgun, fired at the fleeing man. It was this bullet which took effect, that resulted in the capture of the man a few minutes later.

Although seriously wounded Miley kept running, with several men in pursuit, until he came to the railroad tracks, and turned down what is known as "Rat Row."

Clarence Deck, who lives in the neighborhood, noticing the commotion, started to run toward the center of town, meeting the alleged robber on the corner. "I'm shot," Miley told Deck when he reached him, and was too weak to comply with Deck's command to throw up his hands. Deck brought the captured man to the Cedarville station house, where Dr. M. I. Marsh, local physician, was called to dress his wounds, and Sheriff Funderburg of Xenia, was called to take the man to the county jail in this city. Dr. Marsh upon examining the man, said that the bullet from the rifle Confer used, had entered the left side, above the heart, and lodged in the left lung. The physician did not think the man in a serious condition, since his pulse was fairly good, at that time.

Residents of Cedarville are of the opinion that there were four or five men working in the party, despite the statement of Miley that he was alone. This it is pointed out would account for the fact that an attempt had been made on the door of the Exchange Bank and that the operators had been frightened away before they could complete the job.

William Robinson, janitor at the bank, aroused by the noise of the burglary was instrumental in giving the alarm, and it is thought that his passing the bank just before the charge was set off caused the burglar to emerge long enough to be seen by Mrs. Confer.

Miley steadfastly maintained that he did not have a companion, although the story told by Frank Armstrong, who aided in the chase, stated that there were at least two in the party. Armstrong said that about half an hour before the explosion he saw two men sitting in front of the store and he later identified Miley as one of the men he had seen. Armstrong, a restaurant owner, William Robinson, janitor of the bank, Burt Myers and Confer, aided in capturing the bandit. All fired at the fleeing man, but it is thought that the bullet fired by Confer was the only one that hit him.

Miley told questioners at the Cedarville jail that he had been a robber for thirty years. It is thought that the robber or robbers tried to gain entrance to the New Exchange Bank Building first, as the door of the building was found to have been jimmied but for some reason the robbers did not go inside.

Had the robber had time to explore the safe, he would have gotten little money, as the postmaster always banks the money each day, it was learned, Tuesday.

Miley said he has a sister, Nellie Jones, who lives at 257 Ninth Avenue, Homestead, Pa., and a brother, who lives at Shelbyville, Ind.

Miley is now lodged in the county jail in Xenia, where he was taken by the Sheriff, early Tuesday morning, after his wounds had been dressed.

An examination of the postoffice buildings, Tuesday, showed numerous marks made by the bullets from the guns of Cedarville residents.

Tuesday afternoon local authorities said that they would notify federal officials in Dayton, that they would turn Miley over to them, as the case is believed to be one for governmental action.

While the man was severely wounded, Dr. W. A. Galloway, who is attending him, stated that it is yet too early to say as to how serious the wound is. Miley realizes his condition, according to the physician, but says little. It will take several days to determine the outcome of the bullet wound, the physician says.

HARDING DECLARES HE CANNOT GIVE SENATE INFORMATION

Washington, Feb. 21.—President Harding today informed the senate that it is "literally impossible" for him to furnish the senate with the information it requested last week as to the negotiations, records and data concerning the adoption of the four-powered Pacific treaty, which replaces the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The president conveyed this information to the senate in the shape of a letter designed to reply to the Hitchcock resolution, adopted last week, calling upon the executive for all information as to the details of negotiating the pact.

"There were many conversations and discussions quite outside the conference, yet vital to its success," said the president's letter. "Naturally these are without record."

The text of the president's letter follows:

Many of the things asked for in the resolution it is literally impossible to furnish, because there were many conversations and discussions quite outside the conference, yet vital to its success. Naturally these are without record.

"I do not believe it to be compatible with public interest, or consistent with the amenities of international negotiations, to attempt to reveal informal and confidential conversations or discussions of which no record was kept, or to submit tentative suggestions or informal proposals without which the arrival at desirable international understandings would be rendered unlikely if not impossible.

"While I am unable to transmit the information requested, I do, however, take this opportunity to say most emphatically that there were no concealed understandings and no secret exchanges of notes and there are no commitments whatsoever except, as appear in the four power treaty itself and the supplementary agreement which are now in the hands of the senate.

"Respectfully,
"Warren G. Harding."
Following the reading of the president's letter, Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, of Nebraska, author of the resolution calling upon the president, for all available information regarding the four power Pacific treaty, moved that the communication be referred to the senate foreign relations committee.

FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW WHEN YOU BUY A CAR

The question of greatest importance is not what you will be allowed for your old car but the price you pay for the new car and the value received.

You are money out if allowed $100 more for your old car, yet have to pay a $150 higher list price for a new car when the comparative value is not there.

A purchaser's loss is only postponed when trading allowances are made above a used car's real value. The deal that may appear most satisfactory to you in the beginning may prove to be the most expensive in the end.

No one receives anything gratuitously in this world—don't be misled by false allowances.

We believe that any sales policy which encourages the giving of fictitious values for used cars is an injustice to the public. We wish to establish definitely the fact that the Buick Motor Company has never followed this policy—rather has always based the price of its product upon actual costs and when costs came down correspondingly reduced the prices of its cars to the public without any camouflage whatsoever.

ANSWERED LETTERS

Simplex—With brown eyes, a clear skin and auburn hair, you have an advantage over other types. You will be distinctive in all shades of green and brown, especially those which combine yellow or gold in the blending, as these will bring out the life which is in this shade of hair. Cream color is also good.

Anne—There is no way to turn hair white except to wait for nature to do it. Since you are anxious to have silvery white hair instead of the other, stop experimenting with the shade by using the bleaches. When shampooing use only a fine white soap and add a little blueing to the last rinse. To have become almost white at 30 should indicate that the changing process is going along rapidly, in which case you will soon have the shade you want.

Dimples—The white spots on the nails come from poor circulation. They are lime deposits that will bleach off by applying a paste made from equal parts of pitch and myrrh.

Harry N.—As long as you are suffering from catarrh and asthma you cannot be robust. Your lifeless skin is the result of your physical condition so the first thing is to be cured and you will find color coming into your skin again. During the period of taking yeast it is well to take, at least, three cakes a day.

Anxious—The only way to remove tartar from the teeth is have it done by a good dentist. This work is done much more carefully now than it was some years back. The dentist will also prescribe for that condition of your gums.

Betty—The toning up that the skin gets from the daily cold bath will often stop this tendency to excessive perspiration. If this does not do it, consult the doctor as this unusual activity of the skin in cold weather is apt to be weakening. You will be able to wear kid gloves if you first powder the hands.

Slim, E. M.—To get rid of those lines around the mouth and the sagging muscles, build up all the tissues of the face and throat by gently working into the pores with the finger tips all the cream that can be absorbed. This should be done daily and followed by a dash of cold water over the throat and face or use a small piece of ice in a sheer cloth to close the pores. Several times during the week use an astringent and let it stay on the face and throat at least, 20 minutes.

S. R.—The hair is usually shampooed every three weeks, unless it is short and becomes very oily. In such cases every two weeks will be all right with a dry shampoo occasionally if the hair will not keep in curl and look soft and fluffy.

Waiting—Massage a nourishing oil into the fingers every day to fatten them. Have some professional manicuring done for you until you have learned just how to shape your nails so they will not look as if they were broad and fat.

Tomorrow—Refreshing Toilet Water.

The women of the Reformed Church will hold an all day sewing Friday at the home of Mrs. David Fittz, on North Detroit street.

Mrs. John Bruce underwent an operation at the McClellan Hospital Tuesday morning. She is doing nicely.

Miss Sylvia Snider of Marion, O., is visiting in this city, the guest of the Misses Norris, of East Main street.

BEAUTY OVER ALL

Beauty may influence our daily lives more than any other factor—but we must get its spirit, understand it a great deal, and then try to spread its gifts far beyond ourselves.

Beauty over all would re-make the world!

The educated heart is a flower-bed of beauty. And through its winding paths of fragrance you may walk each day if you will but plant the flowers.

As dusk crept on the other evening, was riding toward a body of water which was far in the distance—only the faint glaze of the surface showing. But between, scattered masses of pines, tall and majestic, stood guard as it seemed. While behind them and above the water was a screen of such exquisite beauty of coloring that my senses were revived by a picture so rare.

When you come to appreciate Beauty, it never fails to soothe and inspire.

The business man who gives a portion of his time to the study and love of art and beauty increases his value as a person of affairs and grows as a man. He is better balanced and is able to measure human values for better than the man who gives all that he is to the mere making of money and the building of a greater business.

There stands in Washington a monument to the beauty ideals of such a man—the Freer art building which houses the wonderful Whistler collection and priceless other works of art gathered from all corners of the globe. Mr. Freer was a Detroit business man who spent much of his time collecting beautiful things—and then passed them on as a gift to the Nation.

It is impossible even to feel an impulse toward beauty without at some time or other imparting that impulse to someone else.

That is the way that beauty over all must come about.

Unless we live the things we think about beauty, there can be no beauty so far as we are concerned.

Beauty demands expression.

BIG BARN TOTALLY DESTROYED BY FIRE NEAR JAMESTOWN

The fire was not discovered until the barn had been partly destroyed and could not be saved. Paul and Albert Garringer, who reside on the farm, had gone to a neighbors, when their attention was attracted to the blaze. Residents of the vicinity, aided in fighting the flames but were unable to save anything of the contents.

IF BACKACHEY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take a glass of Salts to flush out Kidneys—Drink plenty water.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush out the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

ABOUT "HOW TO LIVE A CENTURY AND GROW OLD GRACEFULLY."

"Old age" is a variable term, for some people are old at 70, some at 80, some at 90, and occasionally one lives to be 100 years old.

Only a few years ago we heard the delightful Mrs. Bigger, who on her 100th birth anniversary stood on her door-step and recited to a gathering of school children who had come to honor her, a piece which she said she had learned when only seven years old.

And today we have the valiant James Jeffries, who has just celebrated his 101st birthday. How full of good work at his cabinet bench he put in those years until recently. And God has blessed him with such good health that is still able to thank Him in His own house.

Dr. James Martin Peebles, physician and author, lacking 40 days of being 100 years old, died at his residence at Los Angeles, Cal., last Wednesday.

Dr. Peebles not only wrote a book on "How To Live A Century and Grow Old Gracefully," but made himself an example and demonstrated his theories. When Mrs. M. W. Prugh of this city visited California, a couple of years ago, she had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Peebles. When he had passed his ninety-ninth birthday anniversary in March, 1921, he appeared to have all his bodily faculties almost unimpaired. He founded the California Centenarian Club of Los Angeles.

This brings us to notice that the venerable Rev. Dr. P. C. Prugh, known through life to hundreds of our old citizens, was in his last years a member of this same celebrated Centenarian Club. Long pastorates appear to have gone out of fashion in Xenia of late. But just before Dr. Yockey's recent long pastorate of the Reformed Church of this city, Dr. P. C. Prugh had been the pastor of that church for perhaps twenty years. Subsequently in coming here on his frequent visits he often came up to the Gazette office, when it was on Green street, and always told us the story of the hard time they had getting the horse up those steps to the "Fireman's Hall" to auction off during the war.

Dr. Prugh, after his residence here, lived for many years at Butler, Pa., but in the last few years of his life resided at Los Angeles. He lived to be 97.

When health through life has been fairly good, up to four score years is often fairly well enjoyed, but after that is usually considered "borrowed time." We think few aspire to 100, for you recall that in Eccl. 12:5 it speaks of that as the time when "the grasshopper shall become a burden and desire fadeth." Now when you no longer have a desire for anything who wants to live?

"WHY NOT TRY CHRISTIANITY?"

The Nation and Atheneum of London, in a remarkable article published recently, declares that civilized man has "everything he wants to make him happy—love, pity, energy, the sciences, the arts, a subduable earth and sublime religion," and yet is rushing to ruin. And how is the catastrophe to be avoided?

"Here we are, English, Irish, French, Germans, Russians and Americans, shipwrecked together and liable to perish. The doctrine of self subsistence will save none of us; for what happens to Vienna tomorrow may happen to Paris or London the week or year after.

Wherefore the writer proposes a remarkable remedy: "Why not try Christianity?" He insists that the "mere day by day observance of the central Christian precept, which is the Golden Rule, would suffice to stop war, famine, plague and most social diseases, and to raise the whole western world to an unimaginable condition of happiness, beauty and wealth." Yet man, in his great time of trial, disregards the monitor within.

Impractical? Not so, the writer insists Christianity as a religious mystery may be impossible for men to agree upon, but as the doctrine of life there is nothing simpler. "We have only to translate it into the practice of doing to others as we would that they should do to us, forgiving the injuries that they have done to us."

THE TELEPHONE GIRL.

An Editorial from the Chicago Evening Post.—Immediately after the roof of the Knickerbocker Theatre in Washington, D. C. caved in under its weight of snow, a man who was standing outside of the building went into a telephone booth and told "Central" what had happened. The telephone girl did the rest.

This girl realized the situation, communicated the information to other members of the office force, and within ten minutes seventy-two physicians residing in the Columbia Exchange district, where was located the theatre, were told of the disaster; every hospital and first aid agency in the city was notified, a report was made to the War Department and to the municipal government offices, and the work of rescue and of relief was almost instant.

In France the telephone girl proved her courage and resourcefulness in war. She had proved it long before under other conditions of emergency and of peril. In floods, in famine, in fire and in riots the telephone girl has showed the stuff that is in her.

We fear that we do not always remember these things in our daily communications with Central. Sometimes, however, when we do think of them we are sorry that we have blamed the telephone girl for annoying things beyond her control, such as the fact that the telephone of a friend is busy when we want to talk to him, and that perchance we are given the wrong number when the fault lay not with the telephone girl's keenly attuned ear but with our own mumbling manner of speech. We hope by this inadequate tribute we have made amends for a somewhat frequent use of hasty but really unmeant words.

Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs

By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick.

Mrs. Charles R. Fox, the Brookline, Clifton-Cincinnati, vice-president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, will be active federation head during the absence of Mrs. Cornelius S. Selover, Cleveland, the president. Mrs. Selover left February 15 for California, where she will remain until April. She stopped off in Chicago for a short visit before proceeding to the coast. Just before starting her trip Mrs. Selover was the guest of honor at a banquet given by the Crestline federation. This was the first meeting of the Crestline federation since the election of its new president, Mrs. C. E. Dewald. Reports showed great activity and zeal on the part of the various committees. Mrs. Selover's address captivated her hearers.

Ohio Cottage at Chautauqua

The biennial committee of the General federation wants those who have never been to Chautauqua to bear in mind that they are not to find regular hotel accommodations with private bath with every room, for even the best cottages do not have them. The Morey cottage has been secured as headquarters for the Ohio delegation. It is one of the best at Chautauqua. Reservations may be made through Mrs. J. N. Fleming, No. 9722 Logan court, Cleveland, state federation corresponding secretary. There are so many special privileges at Chautauqua that state federation officials feel certain that all Ohio club women will leave at the close of the biennial meeting enthusiastic for a similar gathering at the same place at some future time. A railway rate of one fare and a half has been secured, but every one must have a certificate. Mrs. A. F. Westgate, No. 1875 Belmont road, East Cleveland, is state chairman of transportation and later will have information for those intending to attend the biennial which is to be conducted the week of June 22.

Conservation Program

Mrs. Lyle S. Evans, Chillicothe, conservation chairman for the Ohio federation, would have at least every child in Ohio plant a tree this coming spring or this fall.

"Why not everybody plant a tree on Arbor day?" Mrs. Evans asks. "Place on your program a forestry day during the week of October 27 for next year. That's the birthday of that great outdoor American, Theodore Roosevelt. That day should be set apart as tree-planting and tree-care day. Why not all your club members of all the clubs in your city together consult your city officials and ask for suggestions?"

Roadside planting will give great beauty to the roads and pleasure to those passing, but greatest value is in its educational worth, for we of today must realize the necessity of reforestation if the future is to be one of economic and industrial progress."

Full information in regard to obtaining stock and the planting and the caring of trees may be secured from Mrs. Evans upon request.

Ohio Federation Notes

East Palestine will be the hostess city for the spring meeting of the Northeast district May 11 and 12. Miss Elizabeth Haymaker, Ravenna, vice president of this district, already is busy arranging a program, which she expects to be equal of any conducted at other spring conventions. Club women knowing Miss Haymaker's uncommon ability as a program builder say that Northeast district convention delegates are assured of a program far above the average.

Lima Club women want the state utilities commission abolished because of their alleged abuse of power in permitting the gas company there to charge one dollar thousand feet as a minimum rate.

THE WAY TO HEALTH.

"I hope to live a hundred years," I heard James Grinstead say; "philosophers and docs and seers have pointed out the way. We eat too much, and what we eat is what we should eschew; we fill ourselves with pies and meat, and suet puddings, too. We drink too much of sweetened suds and tannin-poisoned teas; my diet now is leaves and buds, and bark of banyan trees." I said, "I think I'll stick to pie, and to the codfish ball; there are so many ways to die, we cannot dodge them all." I bought me then a gorgeous steak, and ate it down eftsoons, and finished with a noble cake all stuffed with nuts and prunes. James Grinstead watched me while I ate, and gnashed his beard and said, "By eating thus you're tempting fate; methinks you'll soon be dead. Oh, listen to the sage remarks of learned men, great and wise, and eat three pounds of roots and barks, and cut out all those pies." I told him all he had to say to me was sounding brass, and wearily he went his way, to eat some twigs and grass. Then from a roof a furlong high a ragged brickbat fell; his forehead caught it on the fly; he died without a yell. And still I eat the gaudy pie, nor care what may befall; there are so many ways to die, we cannot dodge them all.

Central High of this city has been awarded the Class B silver loving cup offered annually by Miami University to the school within a radius of 75 miles of Dayton, with an enrollment under 800 pupils, which has the best football team in that area.

Announcement of the awarding of the cup by the "M" Association of Miami University was made Monday, with the announcement that Steele High of Dayton, had been awarded the cup offered in the class A division, which includes schools with a total enrollment of more than 800 pupils.

The award was made upon the decision of five sporting editors: H. A. Miller of the Columbus Dispatch; Jack Reid of the Springfield News; Tom Scope, of the Cincinnati Post; Bob Husted, of the Dayton Journal; and Don Reed, of the Hamilton Journal, and was based on the record of the teams.

The cup is offered temporarily annually, and is to be held by each school until awarded to another institution in that class. If any school wins the cup three years in succession it becomes the permanent possession of that school. The class B cup was awarded to Ada High School last year and has been in the possession of that school for a year. It will be sent here soon from Ada. The class A cup went to Steele High this year for the second time, that school having held the cup last year for the first time.

The awarding of the cup probably represents the final honor given to the crack eleven developed here last fall. The team finished its season without a defeat, being scored on but once, and it was this record that probably drew the favor of the sports writers over the claims of Piqua and Middletown High Schools, both of which teams were defeated during the season.

Although the Central High eleven of last fall was essentially a defensive team, it managed to roll up 222 points to seven acquired by opposing eleven. West Alexandria being the only team to score on the locals. The record on which the blue and white team based its claims, and which probably brought the cup here for the first time in history, is as follows: Xenia 27, Washington C. H. 0; Xenia 19, Wilmington 0; Xenia 16, Troy 0; Xenia 21, West Alexandria 7; Xenia 21, Hillsboro 0; Xenia 38 Greenfield 0; Xenia 20, Miamisburg 0; Xenia 20, Wilmington 0; Xenia 34, Springfield 0.

DECREES CERTAIN KINDS OF MOVING PICTURES

Declaring against what he termed as uncalled for scenes in modern motion pictures, which he charges with being immoral in theme, and making an appeal for better pictures, more instructive films, more dramatizations of good books, and better and stricter censorship, R. Hayes Hamilton, local lecturer, spoke to members of the Springfield Kwanan Club at the Hotel Bancroft, Springfield at noon Tuesday.

The speaker praised the Ohio Board of Censors and made an appeal for people who want good movies to support the efforts of producers who have presented good educational plays, only to find that the public was not in a receptive mood and that the pictures did not pay for themselves.

ANSWERED LETTERS

Mrs. H. S.: "Please tell me how to make the old-fashioned potato yeast. Can one start this with a yeast cake as well as with fresh yeast?"

Answer: Pare four potatoes and put them into a pot with 2 quarts of water and 1 1/2 cup of hops. Now put 1 quart of rye flour into another pan and when the potatoes are cooked until tender, mash them right into this rye flour; then pour the boiling water from the hops (in which the potatoes were boiled also) through a sieve onto the potato and rye mixture; stir well, then cool and when nearly cold add either 1 pint of light yeast or 2 dissolved in a little tepid water. Add 1 tablespoon of sugar and 1 teaspoon of salt. Put this in a large stone crock, uncorked, and do not fill the crock too full or it may run over. After two days, cork it. This should keep for two months. Store in a cool place. The jug should be well washed and scalded out before the yeast is put into it.

A devoted reader: "I have quite a little old grease saved up and would like to make soap of it."

Answer: All grocers sell concentrated lye for soap-making and the directions come on the box, but here is a good formula: Soap: 1 pound of lye dissolved in 3 pints of cold water; 5 pounds of fat clarified and melted. When the lye mixture has cooled, add it to the fat and stir until thick as honey. Pour into wooden or pasteboard boxes lined with waxed paper, and set away to harden. Either 2 tablespoons of borax or 1/2 cup of ammonia—or both—may be added to the fat before adding the lye; these simply increase the cleansing powers.

R. L. M.: "I am anxious to play the piano for the movies and wonder if you can tell me what grade and class of music I should practice for?"

Answer: Although this is not "in my line," reader friend, I should say that you should be able to play anything from the work of Grieg or Dvorak to the simplest folk-song. For the music of a moving picture pianist must in a measure be suggested by the pictures on the screen—for instance, "Comin' Thru the Rye" for a pretty little love-scene in a play laid in Scotland; a sonorous march for the "weekly pictorial" showing parades or soldiers; and the "Humoresque" for a film-story about a violinist. Use your imagination. Go to the movies and ask yourself what you would play to accompany the pictures you see, then go home and practice those pieces. When you think you can play pieces to accompany almost any type of film, apply for a position.

A Reader: "How shall I clean a Copenhagen-blue silk poplin dress I am afraid to wash it?"

Answer: It should be dry-cleaned. If you cannot take it to a professional cleaning establishment, then wash it in a gallon of gasoline. Do this work out of doors, as gasoline is extremely inflammable if used near heat or flame. Hang the dress on the line for two days, then press it.

HELEN HUNTER'S HUSBAND

BY JANE PHELPS

A SERIOUS QUARREL—FOR JACK.

Jack Hunter was so taken aback by Helen's action in borrowing from Barnes that he scarcely knew how to act. He had never doubted Helen's integrity for a moment, but, in a way he knew men. A man of Barnes' type a bachelor with money, and his wife—it was inconceivable that people wouldn't gossip, if they had not already done so.

Helen blamed him for borrowing because he did not earn enough to pay her card debts. He had reasoned with her about playing for money, had refused to pay debts contracted in that way thinking it would perhaps prevent her playing. The only effect it had had was to drive her to borrow from Barnes.

Helen's face had settled into hard, determined lines when Jack delivered his ultimatum—that she should no longer be friendly with Barnes. After a moment of pregnant silence the storm burst:

"You sit there and say whom I shall have as my friends? You come home day after day with your hard-luck stories, deny me money to have the simplest pleasures all my women friends have then try to dictate to me! What kind of a woman do you think I am to stand for it?" There was no doubt that Helen was angry now. "I shall have for friends whom ever I choose, both men and women. You deceive me, make money you never tell me about, force me to borrow to keep up my end with the people I go with, and then try to lay down the law to me! You can't do it, Jack! There's no use of your trying."

"So I see—if you mean what you say, which I hope you don't. Can't you see yourself," with growing impatience, "the position you put me, put yourself in? You couldn't feel, anyway you couldn't really be insulted no matter what Barnes might say or do. He is paid now, and by me. Drop him."

"Indeed I shall not! I couldn't if I wanted to. He's friendly with everyone I know, visits them. And if you think I am going to miss his nice parties, well I guess not! And he's giving that one he invited you to—let me see, day after tomorrow."

"You're not going!"

"No, Helen, you are not!" Jack's voice was firm.

"I'd like to see you keep me at home. Now come, Jack, why be so horrid," her anger gone oozing out as it always did, "why not be a good fellow, and have a good time with me. It wouldn't be so awfully goody-goody in your notions we could. But you are such a kill joy. Do be an old dear and act differently. Hor—Mr. Barnes is paid. We don't owe him anything." Although she wouldn't acknowledge it, Helen was relieved that her debt was paid. "Now let's forget it, and have a good time with all the rest."

Jack threw a nickel and three pennies on the table.

"That's every penny I have to my name now that your gambling debt is paid. Instead of talking of good times, Helen, why not turn over a new leaf and try to help me get on? If you would we could soon put away a little because if you would help me I could work so much better. Now it seems to make no difference. You spend everything before I get it. Will you, Helen?"

"Will I what?"

"Give up these gay friends of yours and live as we can afford to live and—"

"I'll tell you right now that you never need ask me to do that! Give up my friends and slave in your kitchen without any pleasures! Not on your tinsy! What a ridiculous thing for you to propose!"

"Then I don't care what becomes of us. I'm through."

"That's right! Welch. Marry a woman, promise her all sorts of things, money and happiness, and then lay down on the job. Mother warned me, she told me you never would amount to anything; that I could do much better if I wouldn't marry you. But because I love you I married you—and look what my loving you has brought me. My husband tells me 'he's through!' Little he cares what becomes of me. Well, be through if you want to! I'm going to bed."

Tomorrow—Jack's Luck Turns.
